

About Kathy Fettke

Kathy Fettke co-founded RealWealth.com, a turnkey real estate company that helps busy professionals acquire turnkey rental properties with vetted property management in place in the nation's top markets, with her husband, Rich Fettke. They also founded RealWealth Developments.com, which offers real estate syndications for accredited investors seeking completely passive income opportunities, including a new real estate investment fund.

Since 2003, they've helped over 80,000+ members build wealth through turnkey real estate investing, out-of-state real estate investing, 1031 exchange replacement properties, real estate syndications, and direct access to vetted real estate professionals, including expert CPAs, attorneys, 1031 exchange facilitators, and asset protection specialists.

As an expert real estate investor and trusted voice in the industry, Kathy was recognized as a 2025 HousingWire Woman of Influence. She earned a spot as one of the Top 100 Money Experts in 2025 by GoBankingRates and MoneyLion and made the list of America's "100 Most Intriguing Entrepreneurs" by Goldman Sachs twice. She is the best-selling author of Retire Rich with Rentals and Scaling Smart (co-authored with Rich Fettke).

She's also a longtime podcaster, sharing real estate trends, market shifts, and investment strategies on The Real Wealth Show, the first real estate investing podcast, Real Estate News for Investors podcast, and BiggerPockets' On the Market, where Kathy is a co-host.

She's been featured on FOX News, CNN, CNBC, Bloomberg, NPR, CBS MarketWatch, and The Wall Street Journal, and regularly speaks at top real estate investing conferences.

She loves the freedom that real estate investing brings. She's an avid traveler and enjoys hiking, rock climbing, skiing, figure skating, and surfing. She lives in Malibu, California, with her husband and nearby family.
