

About Rich Fettke

Rich Fettke co-founded RealWealth.com, a turnkey real estate company that helps busy professionals acquire turnkey rental properties with vetted property management in place in the nation's top markets, with his wife, Kathy Fettke. They also founded RealWealthDevelopments.com, which offers real estate syndications for accredited investors seeking completely passive income opportunities, including a new real estate investment fund.

Since 2003, they've helped over 80,000+ members build wealth through turnkey real estate investing, out-of-state real estate investing, 1031 exchange replacement properties, real estate syndications, and direct access to vetted real estate professionals, including expert CPAs, attorneys, 1031 exchange facilitators, and asset protection specialists.

At RealWealth, Rich oversees operations, blending decades of experience as an expert real estate investor with practical business strategy and personal growth insights. He regularly speaks at real estate investing events and on podcasts, and has been featured in media outlets such as CNN, USA Today, Entrepreneur Magazine, and The Wall Street Journal.

As a Master Certified Business Coach, he's worked with clients from companies like IBM, Century 21, and Morgan Stanley. He's also a best-selling author of four books: The Wise Investor, Scaling Smart (co-authored with Kath Fettke), Extreme Success, and Momentum.

When he's not working, you'll probably find him outdoors—surfing, skiing, rock climbing, or jumping off things. He's a licensed skydiver and former ESPN X-Games competitor, and has bungee-jumped off both the Golden Gate Bridge and Yosemite's Half Dome.

For media or special inquiries, please contact: media@realwealth.com